MESSAGE FROM MAYOR MUFI HANNEMANN

Aloha and welcome to the All-Star Football Classic featuring the Senior Bowl Goodwill Classic and the inaugural Hawaii/Polynesia-Mainland Bowl.

Hawaii is fortunate to have strong community support for football at all levels. Today's premiere doubleheader reflects this commitment and brings national attention to our talented local high school prospects. In addition, standout players from American Samoa and across our nation feature in the Hawaii/Polynesia-Mainland Bowl and bring an international flavor to the exciting play on the gridiron. Both games offer recruiters and fans an opportunity to enjoy football that cannot be matched by any other all-star competition.

Congratulations to the Hawaii Union Builders Foundation, SportsLink and the Hawaii High School Athletic Association on presenting this outstanding doubleheader. The long-standing Senior Bowl consistently draws high quality players because of its excellent reputation. The Hawaii/Polynesia-Mainland Bowl, which extends the possibilities of all-star exhibitions, has the makings of becoming a unique classic of its own.

On behalf of the people of the City and County of Honolulu, I extend best wishes for a spirited and exciting competition.

MUFI HANNEMANN

December 12, 2008

Aloha and Welcome!

On behalf of the Hawaii Union Builders Foundation, it is my great pleasure to welcome you to an experience of athletic spirit and pride quite unlike any other in the islands. Tonight, we kick off the Eighteenth Annual Hawaii Goodwill Senior Bowl at Aloha Stadium with many of Hawaii's premier student athletes taking the spotlight.

And tonight we are kicking off the first annual Hawaii All-Star Football Classic, a doubleheader also featuring the first-ever Hawaii/Polynesia-Mainland Bowl that highlights the best athletes from Hawaii, Polynesia and the Mainland. We are excited about partnering with SportLink to bring Hawaii fans this double-header where more of our Hawaii high school seniors can be showcased. This new double-header truly carries on our long-standing all-star tradition.

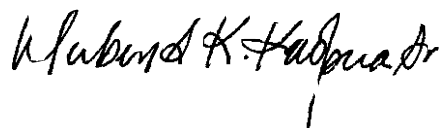

Eighteen years ago, the HUB Foundation established the Goodwill Senior Bowl as a means of showcasing the outstanding student talent found throughout Oahu's public and private schools. We have had many important partners from union, business, education, and the community who have cooperated and shared resources in order to make this game a reality. We have all taken great pride in "investing" in the youth of Hawaii as they will no doubt be our leaders of tomorrow.

Each year, in the moments prior to the start of the big game, I have the privilege of spending time with both all-star teams. Never do I leave those locker rooms without feeling just a bit awe-struck by the energy, the inner strength, and the commitment level that I see in these special young people. It is evident that their individual success is driven by tremendous purpose, dedication and hard work.

Over the year the Goodwill Senior Bowl has become a "must-see" event for local and national recruiters who have lured many of our fine athletes to outstanding institutions. Many dreams have been given flight as a result of this "challenge of the champions."

The HUB Foundation remains firm in our belief that it is our youth who are Hawaii's strength and future. We congratulate the achievements of those student-athletes who participate in tonight's event, and give thanks to those special parents, teachers and coaches who believe in and help support them every step of the way.

Aloha,

Herbert S.K. Kaopua, Sr.

Dear Fans,

Aloha!

Welcome to the inaugural Hawai'i All-Star Football Classic! We are excited about the launch of this new tradition which will create great football memories and great football opportunities for the athletes you see today.

For SportsLink, this event was a natural. For nine years now, SportsLink has produced the U.S. Army All-American Bowl on NBC, which brings together the best players in high school football under the roof of the Alamo Dome in San Antonio, Texas. The Bowl has featured NFL athletes like Adrian Peterson, Brady Quinn and Vince Young as well as Heisman Trophy Winners Reggie Bush and Tim Tebow.

We see the same talent emerging across the Hawaiian Islands, American Samoa and on the mainland where top Polynesian athletes are turning heads. By organizing this talent on one field, we believe that this event will be the next big showcase of prep talent.

We look forward to someday telling similar stories about the Hawai'i All-Star Football Classic and the players whose breakout performances were on this field! The talent is clearly there.

This game is possible because of the outstanding support of Mayor Mufi Hannemann, the HUB Foundation and the HHSAA, who care deeply about promoting and providing a first class experience to these great athletes and simply made this event happen overnight. We also want to thank Ernest Nishizaki and the Kyoya Company who graciously opened their doors to our athletes.

Aligning with The HUB Foundation and their long history and commitment to the youth of Hawaii is also a thrill for us. The HUB Senior Bowl Goodwill Classic was one of the first and greatest all-stars games on the map.

We here at SportsLink look forward to this inaugural game and many return trips to the islands. In fact, Football University, our invite-only football experience for elite athletes, will be hitting the island this spring to provide the nation's most elite training by the NFL's best instructors to the top 200 athletes from Hawai'i (6th to 11th grade). For information on how Hawaii's best athletes can train for three days with former NFL stars, I would encourage you to check out www.footballuniversity.org

Enjoy today's Hawai'i All-Star Football Classic and the opportunity to see some of the nation's best talent on display and thank you to everyone for gracious hospitality.

How it all started

This year's crop of Hawaii high school senior football players made the Hawaii All-Star Football Classic happen tonight.

Hawaii has always been a hotbed for making warriors on the football field. From Hawaii's first consensus All-American Herman Wedemeyer to Charlie Wedemeyer, Jesse Sapolu and Maa Tanuvasa, and now Vince Manuwai, Sampson Satele, Timmy Chang and Chad Owens, along with the many more players from the past and present have carried on Hawaii's football culture with pride.

With no disrespect to the talent that has come before, the 2009 Senior Class is proving to be the best in the country and how great a source Hawaii is in producing all-star players. The amount of four-and five-star athletes in this group is what made Sportslink, a sports-marketing and management company that produces and oversees many sporting events including the U.S. Army All-American Bowl, take notice.

Sportslink president, Rich McGuinness initiated contact with Mayor Mufi Hannemann and Hawaii High School Athletic Association director Keith Amemiya to hold the Hawaii/Polynesia-Mainland Bowl on Oahu to showcase the incredible talent of the Hawaii student-athletes on a national level.

Under Mayor Hannemann's leadership, this led to a partnership with the Hawaii Union Builder's Foundation headed by Herb Kaopua and Wayne Chun, who for the past 18 years has held the Goodwill Senior Bowl to showcase Oahu's high school senior football talent, raise funds for local high schools, and provide scholarships for college-bound athletes. HUB agreed to present the Hawaii All-Star Football Classic with the Goodwill Senior Bowl as the first game and the new Hawaii/Polynesia-Mainland Bowl as the second game in this exciting doubleheader.

By building on the HUB Foundation's long-standing Goodwill Senior Bowl coupled with the new Hawaii/Polynesia-Mainland Bowl, Mayor Mufi Hannemann saw this partnership as an exciting opportunity to bring national attention to Hawaii's best of the best and showcase players of Polynesian ancestry.

The first-ever Hawaii All-Star Football Classic doubleheader tonight will feature about 140 Hawaii all-stars and about 10 mainland players with Hawaii ties along with about 40 of the nation's top prep players and a few players from American Samoa.

The Hawaii's 2009 Senior Class continues Hawaii's football culture with the likes of Punahou School's Manti Te'o, Hilo High School's Jordan Loeffler, Baldwin High School's Mana Rosa, Waimea High School's Siasau Matagiese, and many more Hawaii all-stars. All stars who will surely shine bright for Hawaii.

The HUB Foundation and its Hawaii Goodwill Senior Bowl

A Tradition of Giving

The HUB Foundation

Almost 20 years ago, the HUB Foundation began when it was first organized as the Hawaii Building & Construction Trades Council, Educational & Charitable Foundation, or the BTC Foundation.

Chairman Herbert S. K. Kaopua, Sr., initiated the creation of a charitable and educational foundation dedicated to “giving back” to Hawaii’s youth. The directors of the Foundation were comprised primarily of construction industry unions who were affiliated with the Hawaii Building Trades Council.

In the year 2000, the Foundation became an independent organization, expanding its membership to include unions and organizations representing working people throughout the state beyond the construction industry. By increasing its affiliation, the Foundation was able to expand the scope of resources to accomplish its mission.

The Foundation selected the Hawaii Union Builders Foundation or HUB Foundation as its name signifying the Foundation as a “hub” or center of activity through which the youth of Hawaii will benefit. Another aspect of the name gives tribute to the “builders” or leaders of Hawaii’s unions.

The goal of the HUB Foundation remains to develop and implement programs, services, and activities of a charitable nature designed to benefit the children of Hawaii by encouraging excellence in a broad spectrum of endeavors including academics, athletics, and music.

As a means of “giving back,” the HUB Foundation has contributed extensive time and effort in creating independent, reliable annual fundraisers, including its Goodwill Senior Bowl, that have raised significant funds for Hawaii’s schools.

Over the years, the HUB Foundation has generated over $557,000 in funds and scholarships that have been distributed to deserving Hawaii students. These funds have made the dreams of a college education a reality for many of Hawaii’s future leaders.

Hawaii Goodwill Senior Bowl

This post-season thriller was created in 1991 by a steering committee of local coaches and HUB Foundation members determined to revitalize the concept of a prep all-star game based on “goodwill” and fellowship. A true community event, the Goodwill Senior Bowl is an inspirational battle of champions in a classic East versus West showdown.

Mahalo to Hawaii’s Goodwill Senior Bowl Steering Committee Emeritus Members, Charlie Bessette and Herbert Horita, for their unwavering support of the HUB Foundation.

Charlie Bessette

Charlie, a four-sport athlete at McKinley High School, was on track to attend UH, but World War II delayed his collegiate career. He spent three and a half years serving in the Army and later earned a Purple Heart.

At UH, Bessette lettered in football, basketball and baseball, but it was on the gridiron where he made a name for himself. He was considered a triple threat - he could pass, run and punt. During the 1948 Pineapple Bowl against the University of Redlands, he scored three touchdowns, including the go-ahead score giving the Rainbows a 33-32 come-from-behind victory.

Following his collegiate career, Bessette spent time as the public relations director for the Hawaii Islanders minor league baseball team and served as both the events manager and general manager at Aloha Stadium before his retirement in 1988.

Herbert Horita

Herbert was the youngest of five children of one of Hawaii’s first general contractors, Shigeru Horita. He graduated from Farrington High School in 1948, attended the University of Hawaii and the Honolulu Business School.

In 1952, Herbert joined S. Horita Construction while he developed an interest in real estate. In 1957, he sold his first house for his father’s company. A couple of years later, he started Herbert K. Horita Realty Inc.

Herbert is now one of the largest local developers in Hawaii with his company, The Horita Group, Inc., which has developed and sold over 13,000 single-family, town home and condominium units, over 500 hotel rooms, 336,000 square feet of leasable commercial space and 239 acres of industrial land.

FOOTBALL UNIVERSITY

- The Route to the Next Level

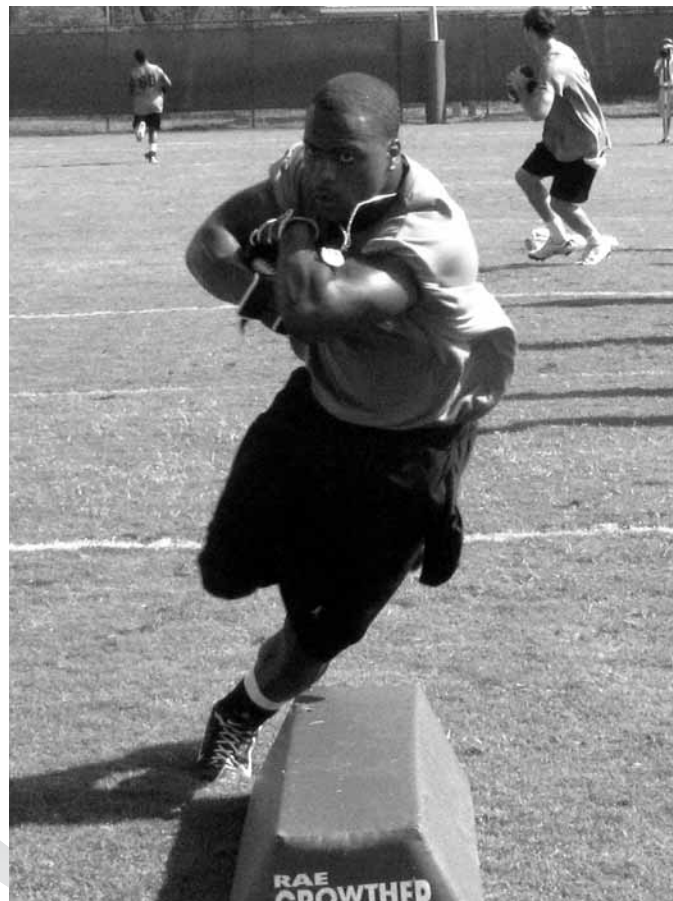

And you thought you'd never want to stay after class for a little extra tutoring...

Welcome to Football University, the place where the stars of the tomorrow get trained in the best position-by-position technique by elite instructors drawn from the ranks of former NFL players and coaches. Instructors like the coaches who trained NFL stars including Tony Romo, Matt Ryan and Tom Brady.

At its core FBU is about taking great athletes and making them into great football players, giving them the skills they need to become even better. Football University is technique driven, instilling in elite players the right way to play the game.

It isn't a camp though; Football University is a total experience. It is all about taking the best - FBU is invite only - and making them even better.

"There are a lot of outstanding, elite players out there," said Rich McGuinness, the President of FBU. "But high level technique training for them just isn't there. These are players with special and unique skill sets who can take it to another level."

In 2008, FBU held 18 sessions nationally, taking the best regional talent and training them over the course of three days. For 2009, Football University expands to over 30 locations across the country and has created an important partnership with Athletic Republic to bring Athletic Republic's performance training to all FBU athletes.

FBU's alumni already include nationally recruited athletes, such as the 2008 U.S. Army Player of the Year and U.S. Army All-American Bowl's MVP, Terrelle Pryor. Many Rivals.com top rated players, like Tom Savage, Cierre Wood, Bryce Brown and Je'Ron Stokes, have seen their elite status explode after attending FBU. The invite only approach ensures that FBU will train only the best, but any serious football players in grades 6 through 11 can be nominated for evaluation and a potential invitation at the FBU website, www.footballuniversity.org, or on the website of Athletic Republic, www.athleticrepublic.com.

FBU utilizes cutting edge video technology to enable its faculty to offer NFL quality analysis to each athlete. Starting this year, each FBU athlete will receive a thorough speed, power and performance training analysis lead by Athletic Republic trainers. The goal is to help each FBU athlete get faster, stronger and more explosive. And, then there is the nutrition module designed for an athlete to get the most from his technical and athletic performance training.

Plus, all FBU high school athletes receive an individual profile on Rivals.com- the leading football recruiting website in the nation. Additionally, each high school FBU athlete has his FBU video profile distributed by the Forbes Report, a major information source for the coaches at over 400 colleges.

It is a complete experience and that is why over 3,500 FBU athletes to date value their FBU "diploma." If you are a serious football athlete wanting to take it to the next level, and believe you have what it takes, entrance into the Football University classroom is the right next step.
